Hyland Crest administrator resigns

Citing a lack of trust and co-operation from the committee, Hyland Crest Administrator Dwight Morley offered his resignation last week.

"This is not a decision I took lightly," Morley told The Times last Tuesday. He said he was within five days of putting a down payment on a house in the area so his wife and family could move to Minden.

At a meeting on February 22 Morley said he asked the committee to either give him the support that is needed to do his job or to accept his resignation. A few days later he received a letter from County Warden Keith Tallman accepting the resignation and asking him to leave by March 15.

"I think that's an absolute disgrace," said Morley. He said he had offered to stay on until the end of April to give the committee time to find a replacement but they wanted him to leave by March 15.

The committee is made up of five members of County Council and is chaired by Bicroft Reeve Bill Howe. Morley says the committee meets for two hours each month and attempts to run the home like a board of trustees. The bulk of the time in these meetings is spent dwelling on "rumors, innuendo and heresay" from a few unhappy residents and employees, he adds.

"They all want to manage the home," he says. "You can't do that in two hours a month."

As an example of the lack of trust displayed by the board, Morley cited a recent visit from Snowdon Township Reeve George Simmons, a new member of the committee. Simmons came to the home three weeks ago and spent four hours "interrogating" employees and residents, said Morley. He said he later found out that Simmons had asked at least one nurse if Morley should be fired. "That's beyond all common sense, he said."

Morley's resignation comes just more than a year after he started at the home. He replaced Karl Samuelson, who left Hyland Crest for similar reasons.

"History is repeating itself," says Morley. However, he is taking steps to see that it doesn't happen a third time. He says he is recommending to the Ministry of Community and Social Services that a review of the board and of Hyland Crest as a whole be carried out.

Principal quits because of ruling on Lord's Prayer

Charles Hughes will be resigning as principal of Wilberforce Elementary School because he refuses to abide by the new government policy on the use of the Lord's Prayer as part of opening exercises.

Hughes, who has worked for the board for the past 27 years, offered his resignation last Tuesday morning. He will remain on as principal until the end of the school year and will return to teaching in September.

Wolf bounties no longer tolerated

Haliburton County Council will have to withdraw its wolf bounty by the end of October or face the legal consequences, according to a recent news release from the Ministry of Natural Resources.

Changes to the Municipal Act that are expected to be in effect by the end of October will eliminate any question that the Act provides authority for the payment of bounties—such as bounty paid out by the County to encourage the active control of wolf populations.

Natural Resources Minister Vince Kerrio and Municipal Affairs Minister John Eakins have notified all municipalities that neither the Game and Fish Act nor the Municipal Act provide authority for payment of bounties on wildlife, except with the written permislosses. However, they say that bounties are not the answer.

"Bounties act to reduce an animal population over a broad area," Kerrio and Eakins say in a letter. "They do not focus on specific problems. Other more cost effective, biologically justifiable and socially acceptable approaches are available."

Municipalities that continue to offer bounties after October 31 can expect to face legal consequences, they say. They suggest that funds would be better used to resolve specific identifiable problems with nuisance wildlife.

Kerrio says his ministry will ensure that "satisfactory mechanisms" are in place to deal with nuisance wildlife. This may include greater involvement of local trappers to deal with specific problems, he said.

sion of the Minister of Natural Resources.

Haliburton County presently offers a $50 bounty on each wolf pelt. Less than a year ago the bounty was increased from $25 to encourage trappers and hunters to hunt wolves. At that time most county council members believed there is a continuing need to control wolf populations, and the limited value of their pelts requires the added incentive of a bounty.

Haliburton is not alone in rewarding hunters and trappers for helping to control populations of animals that threaten the livelihood of farmers or cause property damage. At present, 155 municipalities pay bounties for wolves, foxes or beavers.

Eakins and Kerrio agree that municipalities, farmers and other land owners need to protect themselves from "unacceptable levels of property damage or livestock

Hi Kids!

Here is another puzzle for you with a word list. Look in the diagram of letters for the words given in the list. Find them by reading up, down forward, backward and diagonally.

They are all in a straight line and do not skip letters. Circle the words in the diagram and cross it off the list.

It's as easy as that. Have fun!

One small step

The elimination of the bounty paid by municipalities for the killing of various species of wildlife, is a sensible move by the province. An announcement last week stated that municipalities could no longer put a price on the head of particular species without the consent of the province, through the Ministry of Natural Resources.

The bounty paid in Haliburton County, $50 for each wolf, for a long time has been an anachronism. The amount paid was certainly not enough to motivate active hunting of the animal. Inflation, and the difficulty in locating this wary animal has all but eliminated the incentive the bounty was intended to generate.

While there is still livestock in the Highlands, the number of herds is greatly reduced from the earlier days. Even so, wolves have not, as far as we know, posed a serious problem for the herds that do exist. And, if they did, the farmer still retains the right to kill wildlife which he sees as a threat to his livelihood. As well, compensation exists for those farmers who lose livestock to wild animals.

As to the threat wolves pose to the deer herd, we suggest the bounty has done little to reduce predation of deer and the removal of the payment will not result in a dramatic decrease in deer due to wolves.

The bounty on wolves is a hold-over from an era when man felt he was in competition with nature. That ethos, for the most part, has changed and humanity has realized it is a vital part of nature and must live in harmony with it. Our own survival will depend on it.

The elimination of all bounties is one small step in that direction.

"BOUNTY OR NO BOUNTY- KEEP THIS UP AND YOU GET SHOT FOR FREE."

Single minded salesmen

I was just thinking back to a couple of hours I spent in a tavern one afternoon about 18 years ago, sipping a cold one as I watched U.S. President Richard Nixon on the fuzzy TV screen suspended over the bar. The fervent and life-long anti-Communist seemed to be tossing back a few cold ones himself. Only difference was that he was on the other side of the world - in China, where he'd gone to officially bestow recognition on the most populous nation on the planet. There was more than a little grumbling along the bar as patrons watched the most famous five o'clock shadow in history smiling and bobbing in a sea of attentive Chinese dignitaries. "Why'd he wanna go and reckonize China?" groused one of the clientele.

An ad salesman at the other end of the bar summed it up in seven words as he reached for the beer nuts.

black 'n white

by Arthur Black

"One billion toothbrushes" said the salesman, "and two billion armpits."

Ah, salesmen. Whether you love 'em or loathe 'em you can't help but admire their mercenary single-mindedness. Other observers might see the Chinese-American accord as a breakthrough for world peace and understanding, a chance to connect with an ancient and mysterious culture. Not my salesman. To him it was just one huge untapped market yet to discover the delights of oral hygiene and body odour control. A motherlode of potential sales commissions longer than the Great Wall itself.

I've always had a perverse fascination with the Art of Selling and I don't know why, because I'm utterly rotten at it. As an Encyclopedia salesman I lasted exactly one evening. In my callow youth I put in a few months as a newspaper advertising salesman. I'm reasonably certain I was the very worst representative they ever had. I just couldn't whip up the kamikaze upbeatness - the psychotic optimism good salesmen seem to radiate.

What put me in this reminiscent mood was a tiny item I saw in a news magazine about a rather unexpected American sales success. You'll never guess what the U.S. sold $20 million worth of to Japan in 1985.

Annoyed at TV rates

Editor:

I am writing with regard to the increase in the Haliburton/Minden Cable TV rates. I understand that rates rise after an increase in services. However, I feel this increase of over one hundred percent is not justified by the increase in services.

In addition I feel the choice of channels is extremely poor. Television listings are not available for most of the channels nor are all televisions able to receive the midband channels. I fail to understand how anyone can be charged for a service which they are not receiving. As for the community channel, it does not appear to be in service yet.

I am also disappointed with the cable company's explanation of methods of payment. I was told I could pay: one year or six months in advance, or send twelve post dated cheques. On consultation with the CRTC I was informed that any cable customer may pay on a monthly basis.

For those of us who object to this increase, our only recourse is to cancel the cable service and/or write a letter of complaint to the CRTC in hopes that this situation will be rectified. Write to the following:

Television tubes.

You read right, Japan, which has dominated the North American television market for at least the past decade, is now buying TV parts from a plant in San Diego.

Betcha a 21-inch full-colour Panasonic there's a hotshot salesman behind that deal. Somebody like Joe Girard, maybe.

Joe Girard? He is possibly the most successful car salesman ever to don a fluorescent-green checked sports jacket. He used to work in Michigan - and 'work' is the operative word. Girard won the Number One Car Salesman Award for 11 straight years, and we are not talking about selling cars by the fleet or on consignment. Joe Girard moved cars one at a time - "belly to belly" - as he called it. He sold 174 cars one month. In his best year he flogged 1,425 of them. His lifetime total: 13,001.

Joe Girard retired eleven years ago - from the retail auto business, but not from selling.

Which reminds me of my favourite salesman-as-hustler story. It concerns a young aggressive fellow - let us call him Frankie Grice - who is eager to make his name as a Hollywood press agent (a salesman by another name). Our hero has what it takes - a brand new office just off Sunset Boulevard. He has Art Nouveau bric a brac on the walls and designer furniture all over the place. He's got two telephones on a black onyx desk as wide as an aircraft carrier. On the floor he's got broadloom so deep that short people couldn't cross the room without a lifeboat. Frankie Grice has it all, except for one thing.

A client. Frankie Grice is brand new to the game and he could dearly use a client. But look! There's one now, coming through the door! Intuitively, Frankie grabs his phones, one in each hand. "No!" barks Frankie into one receiver, "Absolutely not! Redford is all wrong for the part! I can live with Pacino or even Stallone, but if you go with Redford, I'll pull Streisand and Hoffman out immediately, understand?" Covering the phone with his palm, Frankie whispers to the visitor at the door "Sorry ... I've got Bob Altman on one line and Tokyo on the other, I'll be with you in a minute."

Into the Tokyo phone, Frankie growls: "Look, I toldja I wanna book the biggest stadium ya got in Japan, okay? Forty, fifty thousand seats minimum. I'm throwing a little party for my friends. Awright, see what you can come up with and get back to me today!"

Slamming down the phones, Frankie cranks up his thousand megawatt smile and says to the visitor in front of the desk, "Sorry about the calls ... now what can Frankie Grice do for you?"

And the visitor says: "I just came to hook up your phones Mister Grice."

In spite of common belief, there is tremendous potential in the maple syrup business says Tom Dawson. The key is in finding a better way of marketing it. That's where his new sugar shack near Gelert comes into play. Here you can watch the syrup being made, sit down to a harty bushman's breakfast and then take some syrup home with you.

Some say Tom Dawson's expansion of his maple syrup business is like investing money in a buggy whip factory—there is no future.

Unlike the buggy whip, though, there is a growing demand for maple syrup products. And contrary to popular belief, the supply is better than ever.

The sweet maple sap will soon be flowing through the lines in Dawson's maple bush down to the new sugar shack that first opened its doors to the public this past weekend. With the stove stoked up with hardwood culled from his own property, the tempting scent of the boiling sap will float to the roof of the huge barn and escape through the signature steam vent at the peak.

But first that sweet steam drifts past the noses of eager children in the loft of the century barn, gently urging them to leave their perch overlooking the operation and cut into a stack of pancakes smothered in the golden syrup.

Maple syrup is now considered to be a luxury food, says Dawson, and it is now being packaged as such.

When he's not working on the sugar shack, cutting fire wood or managing his 200 acre property just outside of Gelert, Dawson is an Industrial Arts teacher at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School. He is only teaching half time this year, though, which allows him the time to tend to all the details of expanding a small syrup operation into what he believes will be a tourist attraction.

Dawson and his wife, Diane, got into the maple syrup business as a hobby. After building their log home on County Road 1 they decided to tap a few trees to boil their own syrup. They gradually began thinning their maples stands with some assistance from the Ministry of Natural Resources, and as they opened up new areas, their production increased. However, like most maple syrup producers in Ontario, he didn't actively market the product—until now, that is.

Tapping the golden syrup

Not quite two years ago, Pat Murphy Construction began dismantling the old barn on Deep Bay Road in Minden. When Dawson saw this, the entrepreneurial wheels began to spin. He pictured that same barn being raised on his property on the site where he was planning to build a sugar shack. He could see the delighted faces of children sampling the freshly-made syrup mixed with snow. He could see a showroom where locally made arts and crafts could be sold. He imagined a sugar shack, similar to the ones in Quebec or Vermont, where sugar bush tours have become a big part of their tourism industry.

Last spring, his dream began to come to life. It almost went unnoticed when they first began to reconstruct the old barn along the county road; it was just another barn being built in a rural area—no big deal. However, as it began to take shape, it was obvious that this was no ordinary barn. There'd be no horses or cows making a home here. When the steam vent was finally built at the peak of the roof, most knew that this was Dawson's new sugar shack.

Now, as the days grow longer and all the weather conditions that make the sap flow fall into place, people driving past will soon see the steam wafting out of the vent. And maybe they'll catch a wiff of sweet maple scent and decide to stop in for a plate of pancakes and sausages hot off the griddle.

And when they taste the unmistakable flavour of this "luxury product", they'll know this is no buggy whip factory.

Dawson's sugar shack is all set to serve up stacks of pancakes smothered with a generous amount of the syrup you saw being produced

After a tour of the sugar bush you can see the antique tool display in Tom Dawson's new sugar shack. The barn will be open every Saturday and Sunday from now until early April. It will be open throughout the March school break.

Be willing to make a start

broke up with me. Misery was a cheerful word to describe how I felt. God was not in his heaven and all was exceedingly unwell on earth. I confided my troubles to a well-meaning friend, a devout Christian. After listening to my story, he said, "Oh well, that's too bad. But praise the Lord anyway."

I could have told him to go straight to hell. Do not pass 'GO'. Do not collect two hundred dollars. Being a semi-devout Christian, I said nothing and walked away. I felt ripped apart and he wanted to fix it with a band-aid.

The causes of depression are almost as varied as those who are afflicted with it. They range from childbirth to childcare; from pre-operative apprehension to post operative exhaustion; from physical ailment to prescription drug overuse; from chronic inactivity to chronic over work; from being firstborn, last born, middle born, only born, the list goes on. Sometimes we get depressed because of the simple consequence of sin: separation from God and from each other.

So when people ask us "What's the matter?" we can't really pinpoint what the matter is. We can't really tell them because we ourselves are not sure what it is. When we are then told to "Cheer up, things could be worse" or "Praise the Lord anyway" or "Look on the bright side" or "Remember every cloud has a silver lining" we feel worse because of course we can't do any of those things.

God, are you listening?

What then, can we do?

Maybe we can take a hint from the people I quoted at the beginning of this piece. They are, in order, Elijah the prophet; Job; one of the people who wrote the Psalms; and lastly, Jesus. If you are depressed, and alone, it seems that you are in good company. They weren't exactly praising the Lord, were they? They let out with bitter complaint and lament, crying out in frustration and anger. They were raging against the darkness that enveloped them, they were crying to God.

In that act of crying out, there is a way out. If you feel so inclined, you can go into the middle of the bush and pour out your heart in a loud voice, or cry on the shoulder of a friend you know and trust not to put band-aids on gaping wounds, or write a letter of complaint to God. In a very real sense, this is what prayer is: casting yourself into the unknown, and finding God there.

Is all this easy to do? No, of course not, but it is a start, and you must be willing to make that start. The Palmist did. Listen to him:

"Why am I so sad? Why am I so troubled?"

I will put my hope in God and once again I will sing

"My saviour and my God!" (Psalm 42:11)

Seeing the sights in northern Ontario

For eleven days, journalists Roger Briano and Rene Briano of Paris, France, have been journeying through Ontario's tourist regions, accompanied by their guide and interpreter, Joel Morin of the Ministry of Tourism and Recreation. Roger and Rene have seen the sights of Northern Ontario's Sault Ste. Marie, have ridden the Algoma Central Railway and have visited Ottawa and witnessed the ever popular Rideau Canal ice skating.

The theme of this excursion has been Canadian winter sports and recreation, five of which were experienced locally in the Elephant Lake and Wilberforce Tourist Area. For three days and nights, Roger, Rene and Joel enjoyed the hospitality of Bill and Sandy Smith and family at Elephant Lake Lodge in Harcourt, Ontario.

Here they enjoyed cross country skiing, ice fishing, and snowmobiling with their local guide Mark Smith, one of the managers at Elephant Lake Lodge. Roger and Rene were also treated to a demonstration of dog sledding, provided by Richard Shoeffer of Richard's Taxidermy in L'Amable, Ontario. As well, they visited the Monmouth Curling Club and enjoyed the first round in the Men's Industrial League playoffs.

Roger, who speaks some English, stated that he and Rene enjoyed their visit immensely and were im-

The result of this visit will have been to experience Canadian winter sports, take photographs, and then formulate an article to be published in tourism and recreation magazines in France, for the purpose of promoting Ontario's tourism in Europe.

"This visit coincides perfectly with our present program to increase tourists' awareness of Eastern Haliburton County. The lodge is presently undergoing expansion and upgrading to include a licenced dining room, golf course and a fitness centre. That, we hope, will encourage other tourist operators in this area to do the same."

Roger and Rene Briano are back in Paris now, and hard at work on their article. After publication, copies will be forwarded to Elephant Lake Lodge and posted for anyone's review.

All that is left to say is, "Au Revoir Rene et Roger Briano", and come back soon.

said Hughes defied the provincial policy by refusing to sing O Canada, which is now a mandatory part of the opening or closing exercises in public schools. He told the board that if he can't say the Lord's Prayer, he wouldn't sing the national anthem, said Ladurantaye.

In January, the Ministry of Education directed school boards not to use the Lord's Prayer exclusively. The directive came as the result of an Ontario Court of Appeal ruling that says the prayer does not reflect the multicultural nature of the province.

The decision to accept his resignation was not an easy one, said the board chairman. The board itself disagrees with the provincial policy and has been petitioning the government to reconsider. However, Ladurantaye said it was the feeling of the board that all employees have to follow that policy while they fight for the changes.

Atoms win against Beaverton

Friday night the Minden Atoms travelled to Beaverton for the third game in the playoff set.

Having won one game and tying one game, Minden needed this game to take them through to the championship.

Minden came up against a very determined Beaverton team, which led to the first period being goalless.

The second period was proving to be going the same way until Beaverton came through in the last few minutes of the second period to score.

Minden pulled out all the stops and started the third period off with a goal scored by Marty Dettman assisted by Daniel Howell.

The pace of the game quickened with both teams tightening their defence, both teams tried hard but it was Beaverton who were to take the lead.

The game ended with a 2 - 1 win for Beaverton.

Tuesday night Beaverton came to Minden for the deciding game, the stands were packed and we were anticipating an excellent game.

The first period both teams came out strong, testing both goalies with several shots on goal, but it was Minden who managed to break through with a goal by Scott Dedman.

The second period was fast and tight, with both teams trying hard to hold the other off, leaving the second period goalless.

The Minden fans were trying hard to encourage the boys on, we were hoping not to have to travel to Beaverton for a rematch.

The boys responded to our calls and Minden scored their second goal by David Raback assisted by Daniel Howell.

Now Minden needed to hold tight for the next few minutes, which was proving hard as Beaverton came through with several shots on goal.

To the relief of the fans, Minden held them off and the final score was 2 - 1 to Minden, taking them through to the championship against Woodville.

Good luck boys.

All six teams still vying for spot in final series

All but three games of round-robin playoff action have been played out and there is still no way of telling which two teams will advance to the finals in the Minden Men's Recreational Hockey League.

All six teams are still in the running, with their fate to be decided tonight when the final three games are to be staged at the Minden arena. After last Monday's games, Halls Insurance moved into the lead with six points from their three wins. The Times, Vasey Real Estate and the Rockcliffe Tavern are tied in second place with four points each while Home Hardware and Hartwick Construction trail with three points.

A close contest was expected last Monday when Vasey and Home faced off for the second game of the night. Instead, it was a blow-out in Home's favour. As it turned out, the two other games were the close ones, both ending in ties.

HOME 4, TIMES 4

Everything was on the line for both Home and The Times in the opening game of the night. Neither team could afford a loss, so they compromised and settled for a tie—which is enough to keep them both in contention.

The Times scored first in this game, and at one point held a 3-1 lead. However, Home fought back and managed to even the count before the time ran out.

Dave Rogers scored two goals for Home while John McAdam and Corey Walker added one each.

Greg Newell led The Times with two goals. Craig Crowe and Irwin Asbell each scored one.

HALLS 13, VASEY 7

It wasn't another night of miracles for Vasey as they were soundly defeated by Halls in the 8:30 p.m. game.

Halls' Kevin Hamilton scored first and he scored often in this 13-7 rout. Hamilton scored five goals in this game, keeping pace with teammate Dave Hartwick, who scored five of his own. Larry Sawyer scored two while Brian Noseworthy added one.

Ivan Ingram again led the way for Vasey with four goals. Barry Shaw, Dave Bezner and Ken Barry each added one.

ANOTHER TIE

A late goal from the stick of Scott Hamilton helped save the Rockcliffe from defeat in the final game of the night.

Hartwick opened the scoring in the first period, but the Rockcliffe retaliated with four goals of their own to take a seemingly solid lead. Hartwick refused to roll over, though, and regained their lead by pumping in four more of their own. And then Hamilton tied it all up with his second goal of the night.

Other Rockcliffe goals were scored by Dean Hewitt, Jim Crawford and Barry Boice.

Sid McKeigan and Wade Stamp scored two each for Hartwick while Doug Ray scored one.

The first game slated for tonight starts at 7 p.m. when Halls meets Hartwick. At 8:30 p.m. The Times and Vasey will face off. And at 10 p.m. Home meets the Rockcliffe.

The results of tonight's games will decide which two teams will advance to the best-of-three finals series.

The competition was really tight in the first and third games in the recreational hockey league last Monday. However, the second game was a blow-out with Halls taking the 13-7 advantage.

20 snowmobile deaths this year

Twenty snowmobilers have been killed in Ontario so far this winter - the same number killed during the entire 1987/88 season. By this time last year, 15 persons had lost their lives in snowmobile accidents, according to Ontario Provincial Police statistics.

Unpredictable weather patterns have created havoc with snowmobiling conditions. Frequent thawing and refreezing of lakes has resulted in unstable surfaces. Riders are advised to check with local residents about the thickness of the ice before venturing out on lakes, or better yet, to avoid riding on lakes altogether.

Some riders are even attempting to jump open water on their snow machines.

"Those who do this are playing with their lives," said OPP Constable Dennis Tappenden of Sudbury OPP. "If someone were to fall in the water, considering the present temperatures, that person would probably have about four minutes to live."

The majority of accidents are due to alcohol consumption and excess speed. The speed limit on most trails is 50 km/h, and snowmobilers should be careful not to overdrive their headlights.

Riders should proceed into unknown areas with caution. Tree stumps can be hidden by the snow, and side roads can be icy.

Lastly, it is important to tell a responsible person where you are going, including any last-minute change of plans, and when to expect you back.

"Letting someone know when you plan to return will avoid any unnecessary worry, and also allow us to find you if there is a problem," said Tappenden.

The word is out: "The Cat Came Back", a National Film Board production, is up for an "Oscar" award in its own special category. And better, the film has been available through your local branch of the Haliburton County Public Library for the past three months.

This animated tale tells the story of Mr. Johnson and his founding cat that proves to be more trouble than he is worth. No matter how he tries, Mr. Johnson simply cannot get rid of the pesky cat who - in the NFB version - is methodically and patiently trashing his owner's home. (Watch for the scene where the cat takes out the curtains).

New films are constantly being added to the Haliburton County Public Library's collection. We now have well over 500 titles and access to 10,000 more through our automated booking service.

Why not drop into your local branch and see what we have got for you!

News from Staannworth

Hi Folks, what a strange winter! However, Spring is on the way! Wit and Wisdom says that Spring is when a boy Mantis sees a girl Mantis and finally realizes that this is what he has been praying for.

Our February meeting was well attended and chaired by president Holly. Corinne Arseneault, our treasurer drew our attention to a few items of concern such as attending the upcoming hospital meeting, cable TV and hydro overload. A potluck supper was suggested for February 22. This was to be followed by music provided by Garth Horsley. After the meeting Corinne A., our administrator called in the photographer from The Times to take a picture of Mrs. Marsh and the lovely wallhanging she donated to our apartments. This was followed by a sociable lunch, instigated by Corinne on the occasion of the Marsh's 45th wedding anniversary. (Many of us here are indebted to Mrs. Marsh taking us for the many trips voluntarily to and from the hospitals at Lindsay and Peterborough as well as taking us to our doctors. Art keeps the cars free from snow and from our patios too.

To our friends who read our news 'down south' we hope you are well and here is our big euchre scores sheet. Sorry I missed anuary 13.

MLH - Lillian Davidson High sc. Marg Horsley, Low sc. Fern Donnelly.

Feb. 3 - MLH - Bill Donnelly, low Eleanor Pye.

Feb. 10 - MLH Bill D., high Marg. H, low Mel Foster.

Feb. 17 - MLH Eleanor P., & Fern D., high Mary Baldwin (Henry's daughter), low Doris F.

Feb. 24 - MLH Art Marsh, high Eleanor Ferris, low Fern D. (I must add that Bill Donnelly set a record for our club of 8 lone hands and a score of 76 in 8 frames. Very good, don't you agree?)

Some of our residents are active in other sports such as:

Curling - ean Marsh - ladies rink and Bill Donnelly - men's rink also in mixed teams.

Bowling - Fern Donnelly, Eleanor Ferris and Bill Donnelly.

Did you know that it is said that worms did not come out of the Ark in pairs? They came out in apples! .

On February 22 we enoyed a potluck supper of cabbage rolls, salads, buns, cold meats and a choice of three kinds of desserts.

After reading that eating too much dessert made one 'thick' at the stomach, it was simply impossible to resist. Since the entertainment was cancelled due to the storm of the winter, we came back and played euchre. We thank Garth and the group gathered for that evening, for offering to entertain us.

Trust we will hear from you soon. Our February birthday girl was Florence Lindsay who is at present in hospital in Minden. However we did think of you Florence and wish you all the best in 1989 and many more birthdays.

Congratulations to Janet Perry on the birth of her new wee granddaughter Nichole Voicey and to the proud parents, daughter Katie and husband Doug. What a wonderful institution is a family!

Congratulations to Mary and Albert Stata on their 50th wedding anniversary. We wish them continued love and health (Mary and Albert were residents with us for some time. We enoyed them very much.)

Many of our residents are on the unwell lists. Vivian and Ernie Anderson; anet Perry who is waiting for results from Sunnybrook Hospital; Florence Lindsay who is under the doctor's care in Minden hospital; Corinne Bonneville recently had an operation on her ear at Barrie Hospital; and Ivy Angliss who was taken by ambulance to Lindsay Hospital. We sincerely wish you all a speedy and successful return to health and home.

Our sincere sympathy goes out to Lillian Davidson and family on the death of her husband and their father, George Davidson. He was a very quiet mannered man and most interested in all our proects. We too shall miss him very much. (Her family chose to take Lillian home for a while with them after the funeral. Keep well, Lillian.)

Well, begorrah! St. Patrick will soon be celebrating his birthday, so 'Top o' the mornin' to all ye Irish!

Two fleas were wondering if they should walk home or take a dog. This gives me an inspiration. I'll take a break. Keep well. M.H.

No injuries in eleven accidents

During the week 20-26 of February 1989, the officers of the Minden Detachment investigated 53 general occurrences and 11 traffic accidents with no one hurt.

Cottage B & Es solved

An investigation into 2 cottage break and enters on the East River of Kawagama Lake has resulted in two Huntsville area men being charged. Firearms and liquor were reported stolen to police in the first month of the year.

Duane Edward Murray, 19 of R.R.1, Huntsville and Rolan Scott Fuller, 20, of 36 Elliott Street

Huntsville are charged with two counts of Break, Enter and Theft and will appear in Provincial Court Minden on April 5.

Theft of V.C.R.

A young offender has been charged with theft under $1000, after an investigation by police. The property in question was a Video Cassette Recorder.

Insecure load

An insecure load on a log truck, resulted in a log falling from the truck and being struck by another vehicle.

Blaine Lewis of Highland Grove was westbound on Highway 648 when he collided with the log laying in the westbound lane.

Ken Coumbs of Haliburton has been charged with failing to secure the load of logs.

Driving tip of the week

Buckle up, it is the law, and it does prevent serious injury and death. The driver of a motor vehicle is responsible, to ensure themselves and all passengers under the age of 16 are wearing seat belts. Other passengers (16 and up) in the vehicle are responsible for themselves.

The seat belts must be properly adjusted.

Failing to wear seat belts or not having them properly adjusted will result in a fine of $53.75.

Police officers are looking for seat belt violations and when they are observed charges are being laid.

Spring is for the birds

by Marion Strebig
Federation of Ontario
Naturalists

Although the weather can't make up its mind whether to commit itself to winter or to spring, the birds seem to have decided in favour of silliness and spring. Once again the male cardinal is using the forsythia bush to launch attacks against the garage window. He flutters at the window for 30 seconds or so, then returns to the bushes to preen. Possibly, seeing his own reflection in the window, he imagines that he is driving off battalions of rival males.

Birders also suffer from the silly season. I am not a lister; a lister is a birder who will abandon everything including his family and his job, if he hears of a rare bird anywhere within a day's drive. But I confess to responding to a call we got at the federation of Ontario Naturalists about a Rock Wren which appeared to have settled, at least for the time being, on the lakefront in Etobicoke. It is a western bird, and should have been happily wintering in Arizona. What strange twist of fate had landed it on the shores of Lake Ontario, thousands of miles from home?

The day we heard about the wren was one of those sunny days February brings, when the sun has real warmth and sky is as blue as a summer sky. Altogether a perfect day to play hooky. Several of us from the FON, following the directions we'd been given, drove down to the lake.

The location it had chosen was in many respects an ironic one - another man-made spit in the process of being created by truckloads of fill. Piles of rock at the base of the spit and scattered along the new shoreline heled prevent the new spit from disappearing again into the lake. Looking for a bird as tiny as a wren in these rockpiles was like looking for the proverbial needle in a haystack, except that wrens, like small dogs, are given to noisily scolding intruders.

While we were there half a dozen trucks rumbled in or out. After all the talk about the toxic fill which had been dumped at Leslie

Annual 'spiel a success

The sixth Annual Tom Stinson Bonspiel, sponsored by Easton's Valu-mart of Haliburton, was a decided success.

In the special Opening Ceremonies, and to the skirl of bagpipes, 16 teams made a circuit of the ice led by Pipe Major Earl Cooper. Rinks from Bobcaygeon, Oshawa, Lindsay, Minden and Haliburton were among the prize winners, with the Norm Williams' foursome from Peterborough winning the Tom Stinson Memorial Trophy for 1989: the members of his team were Don Isaac, Vice, Wally Fowler, second, and Jack Thompson lead.

Bruce Oliver's team from Bobcaygeon, Bill Monk's from Oshawa and Jim Holmes' from Haliburton (last year's winners) were the other two-game winners while two Lindsay rinks skipped by Gerry Fontaine and Gord Atkinson topped the one-game winners, followed by Stan Hill of Minden and Ed Pickard of Haliburton.

Seeking new careers

The third-year Convention Management students from Sir Sandford Fleming College will host an Educational Conference at Pine-Stone Inn and Country Club, from March 28 to 30.

The Conference theme, "One Step Closer", describes the second- and third-year convention student delegates as they reach the end of their college careers and prepare to seek new career opportunities in the Convention Industry.

The conference will be particularly unique as the students will fulfill a dual role. Not only will they be delegates, but they will actually service the Conference. The three days of activities revolve around Computer Applications, Convention Services, Sales and Negotiation seminars, as well as workshops, receptions, breaks, entertainment and dinners. This gives the students a chance to apply all their classroom studies in a practical setting.

Birds of a feather

Street we could not help wondering where these loads came from and what they contained.

We never did see or hear the elusive little fellow, but we heard a horned lark tinkling somewhere on that muddy expanse of raw earth. And from among the rocks we startled a small flock of snow buntings which rose on rapid wings, and whirled away like driven snow. On a small tree back near the entrance to the spit, a handsome male evening grosbeak sat long enough to be admired.

That was a good day for hawks as well. On our way back to work on the Don Valley Expressway we spotted two red-tailed hawks floating over the valley, one with something dangling from its talons. Lately there seems to be a Red-tailed Hawk wherever there is open ground. Yesterday we were all summoned to see a "huge bird" perched in a tree on the far side of the ravine. It was a handsome Red-tailed Hawk which obligingly changed perches, fanning its rufous tail in the sun as it flew.

Since this large hawk's diet consists largely of rodents, it hunts, like most owls, from a perch. But it also appears to enjoy the intoxication of rising in spirals on the thermals, broad wing motionless. I don't know whether this Red-tailed Hawk was successful hunting from his new perch, but I saw it again later in the day escorted by three noisy crows. It lit in a pine tree within view of my window.

Then the crows really began to have some fun. Although the Red-tailed Hawk is far too ponderous in motion to be a threat to any healthy bird, these crows were not about to tolerate its presence on their territory. They proceeded to buzz the hawk, and I could tell through the binoculars that they were actually making contact.

Finally the hawk turned its head like a horse shaking off a fly, rose on broad strong wings and sailed out over the ravine. His tormentors were already losing interest and only followed a short distance. From now on I will watch on a clear day to see whether it returns, this time with a mate, to rise in mounting circles, the paths of the two birds crossing and recrossing in an intricate and beautiful aerial mating ritual.

Rare turtles studied

Last summer marked the third season of study of a rare turtle in Algonquin Park. The study has been conducted by Park biologists and has been financed in part by grants from "Friends of Algonquin".

The species in question is the Wood Turtle. This is a medium-sized and strikingly handsome turtle whose most prominent feature is bright orange (not yellow) forelegs and neck. It also has a finely detailed, olive-hued shell which seems deliberately carved and has given rise to the description "sculpted" turtle. This species is the most terrestrial or land-oriented of Ontario turtles and is our closest thing to a real 'tortoise'.

The wood turtle is in trouble. The species originally ranged throughout much of north eastern North America, but no longer. It has been eliminated from large parts of its range and is officially endangered in New York and Wisconsin and protected by several other States and Provinces. Ontario designated the wood turtle 'rare' in 1985 and it is now protected.

No one knows for certain why the wood turtle has declined but loss of habitat has certainly played a part. The species also suffers from having a bright, engaging personality and this, unfortunately, makes it an excellent pet. In fact, there was once a significant market for the wood turtle and depredations for the pet trade undoubtedly caused its decline in some areas. Forget about trying to find one now (it is that rare) and, at any rate, possession of the wood turtle is illegal.

The distribution of the wood turtle in Ontario is very spotty but a population has been known to exist at the east side of Algonquin Park for some time. In 1986, Park staff decided to try to learn something about this population. Initially, our efforts were disappointing; a field biologist found one wood turtle within ten minutes of leaving camp on day one of the study but did not find another specimen in 17 days of searching.

The study was expanded in 1987 by enlisting help from volunteer observers and it paid off; 14 turtles were found and tagged. We also employed radio-telemetry; compact but powerful radio transmitters have been fitted to the edge of the carapace (shell) of a select number of turtles. This technology allows us to study movements and behaviour of the turtles and monitor survival of individuals over time.

A lot has been learned about wood turtles already. For example, from counts of 'annuli' or growth rings on the shell we can estimate the age of the turtles and we now know that there is a wide range of ages in the population. This is good news simply because it means that there has, until recently at least, been steady production of young. Thus, the population has at least some sort of future. It has also come to light that wood turtles vary greatly in their movements and some actually show evidence of a migration of sorts. Certain turtles seem to spend the entire year in one spot (almost literally) while others wander across hundreds of acres of territory. There is, as yet, no explanation for this.

The 'radioed' turtles have led researchers to two breeding sites which appear to be used by a significant number of turtles year after year. These sites are obviously of great importance for survival of the species in Ontario and will be protected from disturbance.

The study will continue. A great deal has been learned already and in time it should be possible to gauge the future of this species in Ontario.

Summer camp time approaching

Editor:

Even though there's still snow on the ground, spring is fast approaching. And once again the Victoria-Haliburton Summer Camp Fund has undertaken to raise money to give children who otherwise would be unable to attend, a summer camp experience. Last year 32 children from Haliburton County were sponsored for a week or more at a camp and for most, that time was the highlight of their summer!

The number of children who benefit depends entirely on the amount of money we raise. A week at camp costs an average of $200.00.

Last year 25 per cent of donations came from Haliburton County businesses and residents. The $18,442 raised enabled us to send over 100 children to camp! The money was used strictly for camp fees - organizing, stationery, mailing costs etc., are donated by the board members of the Summer Camp Fund.

Please help us this year. Your donation can ensure that a Haliburton County

New agreement for provinces

Ed Fulton, Ontario Minister of Transportation and Marc-Yvan Cote, Quebec Transport Minister have signed the first reciprocal agreement between two Canadian provinces to monitor road infractions.

In 1987, Ontario drivers were responsible for 17,913 driving infractions under the Quebec Highway Safety Code and 65% of these were from Ontario drivers. During the same period, there were 18,631 offences committed under the Ontario Highway Traffic Act with Quebec drivers being similarly responsible.

Under the terms of the new agreement, which comes into effect April 1, 1989, infractions committed under the Ontario Highway Traffic Act with Quebec drivers being similarly responsible.

Under the terms of the new agreement, which comes into effect April 1, 1989, infractions committed under the Traffic Act of the neighbouring province will result in demerit points being recorded on the driver's record -- just as if those infractions were done in the home province.

The agreement also provides for the suspension of the right to drive in the neighbouring province when any fine for a traffic violation has not been paid. Furthermore, it will facilitate exchange of driver's licences for Quebecers and Ontarians moving to the other province.

Agenda for Action

Don Pennell, leader of the Family Coalition Party, addressed the Constituencies of Victoria-Haliburton, Durham, Simcoe East and Peterborough at the Lindsay Library on February 1.

Along with the presentation of his "Agenda for Action", he responded to questions on various current issues such as Sunday Shopping and the removal of the Lord's Prayer from the Education system.

"If we were in power, we would definitely reinstate the Lord's Prayer in the classroom. In removing it, the lawmakers have responded to a noisy minority who are trying to deny Canadians their heritage. They don't understand that most new Canadians want this country to stay strong and free - something it won't do if we allow it to topple from its foundations."

With regard to Sunday Shopping, Pennell reaffirmed the alliance of the F.C.P. with the Coalition Against Sunday Shopping in calling for a common day of pause. If the Sunday Shopping Bill is passed, he predicts a further decline in Ontario family unity and would overturn the ruling if in a position to do so.

Pennell predicted the skyrocketing increase in health care premiums, auto insurance and taxes within the next while. "It has been proven", he says, "that the more money a government collects, it spends". He went on to tell about his Queen's Park conversation where he asked why the government is spending about 10 million per year on abortions but cannot supply adequate hospital facilities. He was met with an icy, unsatisfying response.
